Yanshan, 6 years old, reunited with mother after four years' separation

On July 7, 2005, after over 1,500 days of separation, six-year-old Yanshan Zhang finally reunites with her mother. When little Yanshan was only one, her father Yuhui Zhang was sentenced to 10 years by the Chinese communist authority for writing articles on the Internet supportive of Falun Gong. When Yanshan was two, her mother Celia was forced to leave her behind. Now with the support of numerous kind-hearted people, U.S. congressmen and GMR, little Yanshan is finally reunited with her mother. However, her father is still incarcerated and tortured in a Chinese prison.

Doudou, 7 years old, reunited with her mother

Thanks to the kind efforts of government and concerned citizens of the United States, seven-year-old Doudou was reunited with her mother, Amy

Lee, in New York on November 11, 2003. They had been separated in China because Ms. Lee practiced Falun Gong.

Their Tears Unseen, Their Cries Unheard

In July 1999, the Chinese communist regime launched a massive campaign to annihilate Falun Gong practitioners. This persecution permeates all levels of society and utilizes the entire government. Practitioners are forced to choose between spiritual and physical death by either renouncing their belief or dying from torture. Even foreign governments and multinational companies have been forced to choose between conscience and interest when faced with the persecution of Falun Gong.

In the wake of this savagery, infants and children are becoming the youngest and most vulnerable victims. With their parents tortured to death or detained, thousands are left orphaned or deprived of parental love. These children are subject to torture, brain-washing, flagrant prejudice, open hostility, and many are deprived of education at the hands of Chinese communist regime. Some are struggling to survive without anyone to care for them.

Rescue the Children

...the youngest victims

of persecution
towards Falun Gong

in Communist China

Falun Gong, also called Falun Dafa, is a mind-body practice based on truthfulness, compassion, and forbearance, and includes gentle exercises and meditation. Mr. Li Hongzhi introduced Falun Gong to the public in 1992 and it quickly spread across China, as well as to over 60 countries.

Why: Throughout history, communist regimes have never allowed people to have independent thinking or to hold beliefs outside communist ideology. Along these lines, Falun Gong was banned in China on July 20, 1999, by former Chinese president Jiang Zemin, who China watchers say was fearful that Falun Gong's popularity was overshadowing his own legacy.

GMR Global Mission to Rescue Persecuted Falun Gong Practitioners, a 501(c)(3) non-profit, human rights organization with 18 international branches, is dedicated to rescuing the children under persecution of Falun Gong.

GMR's core mission is to:

- ★ Raise public awareness about the persecution
- ★ Rescue those under persecution of Falun Gong
- ★ Help stop the genocide of Falun Gong practitioners

With the support of the public, governments, UN, and other NGOs, over 20 Falun Gong practitioners have been successfully rescued to the United States and other democratic countries. In addition, nearly 100 Falun Gong practitioners have been released from labor camps either earlier or without further extension of prison terms.

Ge Tian, 12 years old, lost both parents in the persecution

When Ge Tian was only six, her mother Yujie Zhen died in an attempt to escape from police custody. When she was nine, her father Yili Tian died after repeated detentions, economic coercions, huge pressures and devastated physical conditions. Ge Tian is in constant terror because she could not understand why she had to lose her parents, and even worse, why people, including school teachers and kids point finger at her and discriminate her.

Two-year-old baby left behind after his mother tortured to death, father forced into exile

Wang Tianxing, male, was born on July 31, 2002. His mother, Feng Xiaomei, was persecuted since she did not renounce her belief in Falun Gong and died on June 1, 2004, at the age of 34. At that time, little Tianxing was just 22 months old. Tianxing's father, Wang Xiaofeng, was forced into exile due to his belief in Falun Gong, and has been chased by the "610" office since then. Tianxing's uncle, Wang Hongbin, also a Falun Gong practitioner, was tortured to death on October 9, 2003.

Zhuangzhuang, 5 years old: father killed, mother sentenced to 9 years

When Zhuangzhuang Pan was only 10 months old, his mother Li Zhang was forced into exile, later arrested and sentenced to nine years for practicing Falun Gong. When he was 17 months old, his father Xinfu Pan was arrested for practicing Falun Gong. When he was four, his father died after a lengthy detention and torture by the Chinese police. Zhuangzhuang is now cared for by his senile grandmother, who also has been detained multiple times for her own belief in Falun Gong.

Ying Li, 13 years old, left with no care givers and faced direct persecution Ying Li was raised up by her mother. On September 17, 2002, mother Shulan was abducted and was later sentenced to 7.5 years for practicing Falun Gong. On the same day, little Ying was abducted from school to a brainwashing center, where she was locked, deprived of sleep and forced to renounce Falun Gong. Chinese Gestapo - 610 Office later threw Ying into a senior nursing home. She has virtually no freedom, no allowance, and sometimes has to endure starvation. Ying's grandparents had both been detained for practicing Falun Gong. Her two uncles and an aunt were all persecuted to death.
